Public Talk at HKCEC with 8,000 participants

November 14, 2010
Zen Master Thich Nhat Hanh is a poet, scholar and peace activist based in France. In the early 1960s, he founded the School of Youth for Social Services in Saigon to rebuild villages, set up schools and medical centres, and resettle families left homeless by the Vietnam War. He has published more than 100 books and continues to be active in the peace movement.
